Fictional writing sample. All company names, people, quotes, and results are invented. This is not client work or evidence of actual product performance.

A clearer path from invoice to payment

Briarford Supply × Vellora Pay · A fictional scenario

32 hours

less invoice administration per month — illustrative, invented result

The customer

Briarford Supply, a fictional regional distributor: three finance staff and 1,200 supplier invoices each month.

The challenge

Email approvals and a separate payment spreadsheet left the team chasing updates before every payment run.

The change

The invented Vellora Pay platform brought invoice intake, approval routing, and payment status into one queue. Finance kept final payment authorization.

The illustrative outcome

At week 12: 32 fewer administration hours per month (55 to 23), with average approval time reduced from five business days to two. All figures are invented.

The story behind the numbers

Clear ownership and a staged rollout gave the team more time to resolve discrepancies and plan payments.

joshua@ledgerstorystudio.com